WHEN TO ADJOURN.

A Possibility That the Sundry Civil Bill

May Fail to Pass. When or how the fight over the world's fair appropriation in the House will end no one knows nor can any one form a fair judgment. Upon it depends the question of adjournment, and, of course, that is in as much doubt. In the House this morning Mr. McMillin offered a resolution for an adjournment on the 30th of July. Mr. Cummings moved to amend by making it the 1st of August. The talk on the subject developed the fact that it was all a part of the filibuster against the $5,000,000 appropriation, and that the opponents wanted an opportunity to impress upon the friends of the fair the idea that the filibusterers were perfectly willing to let the sundry civil bill fail if that were the only way to defeat the fair appropria-

The Senate, it is understood, will not act on an adjournment resolution until the fair ques-tion is settled in one way or another.

The opponents of the fair item declare that there can be but one outcome to the fight; that enough of them will hang together and flibuster to prevent the concurrence in the Senate amend-ment, and that they do not care how long the session is protracted.

A great many members are sick, and the hot weather is rapidly knocking out those who are in the fight. The prospects are that in a very short time many of them will leave the city, whether or not there is an adjournment. When a quorum is broken in this way nothing can be done, and it will be very difficult to delay adjournment beyond a few days pulses there are journment beyond a few days, unless there are a few members who like the idea of sitting in the House with no possibility of doing any-

the House with no possibility of doing anything.

One feature of the fight, as involving the possible loss of the sundry civil bill, is that in order not to stop the wheels of government the sundry civil bill of the last Congress would have to be extended. This bill is one of the most important of those passed by the muchtalked-of "billion-dollar Congress," and if it is extended it may be said by republicans on the stump that after talking of the extravagance of the last Congress the democrats had to continue the most important bill of that Congress because it was better than the one this Congress made.

and it now reads: "That a select committee of five Senators be appointed by the President of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to investigate the operations of the United States geological survey, the efficiency and utility of such survey, together with the progress made and economy observed in its work; that said committee omy observed in its work; that said committee is authorized to sit during the sessions and the approaching recess of the Senate, may employ a clerk and a stepographer, send for persons and papers and administer onths; the expenses of such investigation to be paid from the con-tingent fund of the Senate.

THE REPUBLICAN OUTLOOK. What Chairman Carter and Gen. Clarkson Say on the Subject.

Chairman Carter of the republican national committee and Gen. Clarkson were in conference with leading republicans at the Arlington Hotel last night and this morning. A number of Senators and members and active politicians called during the morning to talk over the general situation and make plans for the campaign. world's fair appropriation have settled down to

A CONFERENCE WITH THE PRESIDENT. Mr. Carter, Gen. Clarkson and Mr. Huston press the belief that the fight will be sharp but of Indiana held a conference with the President | comparatively of brief duration, and that there on the situation in New York, Indiana and the will be a sudden yielding in some part of one or south. The burden of the talk was that there the other of the opposing lines that will enable would have to be some very hard fighting all along the line; that the managers were starting out with that assumption and were preparing for it. The necessity for an early entrance press undiminished confidence in ultiinto an earnest campaign was conceded and Mr. Harrison showed a disposition to assist in any proper way in the efforts to overcome any disagreements there may be between republicans in New York and Indiana.

In the second of their friends are less sanguine and fear that a compromise must be sought. The second of contest has expanded and the found to the contest has expanded and the contest has expan nessee, and assurances have been given republicans of Tennessee and North Carolim that if they would make a vigorous campaign they would receive all possible encouragement and assistance from the national committee.

EVERYTHING GOING SMOOTHLY. Mr. Carter said to a STAR reporter that everything was going on smoothly with the party organization and that the situation was satisfac

AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

Chairman Carter of the republican national committee and Gen. Clarkson called at the remnant too small for effective work cannot be White House this morning and had a long conference with the President. It is said they brought him some very cheering news of repub-lican harmony in New York and told him that republican prospects for next November are ex-ceedingly bright. Chairman Carter, who has had an oppor

Chairman Carter, who has had an oppor-tunity to look over the field somewhat in the past week and has come in contact with a num-ber of politicians who are in a position to feel the pulse of the country, says that the outlook for the republicans was nover brighter. He is confident that Harrison and Reid will sweep the country, and believes that the democratio majority in the House will have a wide swath cut out of its middle by the republican contact cut out of its middle by the republican scythe.

Mr. Carter is becoming interested in his work, now that he is fairly launched in it, and

DISTRICT CORPORATIONS.

Considerable Information in Regard to Then Wanted by Senator Gorman. Senator Gorman's resolution on District corporations, referred to in THE STAR yesterday. was later in the day favorably reported from the committee on contingent expenses. The resolution provides that a select committee of PERSONAL.—T. J. Sparks of Louisiana, Jason five Senators be appointed by the President of Rogers and E. C. Greene of New York and J. the Senate, whose duty it shall be to ascertain debt issued by each and every incorporated amount actually paid for said stock and bonds; the amount and the value of the property acquired by each of said companies; the amount of gross receipts and expenditures by said cor-porations for each year during the past ten years; the dividends paid to stockholders dur-ing the same period and the amount and dispo-sition of any surplus fund; the amount of taxes paid each year, and to further ascertain and re-port what, if any, additional tax should be levied and collected from said corporations, and what further provisions should be made for the better regulation and control of said corporations.

When the resolution had been agreed to Sen ator Cockrell said: "I should like to suggest to the members of the committee who may be ap-pointed that they not only ought to go back ten years in their report, but they ought to give us a history beginning with the organization of every single corporation in the District of Co-lumbia, tracing it from the act of incorporation down to the present time, so that we may have them in successive order and may know what they have done. We have to legislate in regard to these corporations and we ought to have that information, and the proposed investigation can develop it and get it together very readily."

A MAMMOTH TELESCOPE.

It is Proposed to Bring the Moon Within One Mile of the Earth.

Let any scientific reader stand on an unob-structed plain and look at an object one mile away and he will find that he can distinguish in a very clear way not only the outlines but even minute portions of the object. If, then, the moon could be brought to within an apparentdistance of one mile from the earth what a possibility of scientific discovery would be opened up. This possibility, or rather certainty, of discovery is what a live and energetic gentlediscovery is what a live and energetic gentle-man from Colombia, South America, feels certain he is able to accomplish, and if success crowns his efforts there will be exhibited at the world's fair a reflecting telescope of so much greater power than any taing yet known that in comparison the present big instruments will be little less than toy spy-

Senor Dr. Carlos Alban of Colombia is the wizard who proposes to produce all these marvels and at present the doctor is in Washington conferring with scientific men and officials as to the best mode of procedure. Dr. Alban brings with him letters from his own government and from promineat American and French residents of Bogata. He has served as procurator general of Colombia and is well known as a scientist of high standing. His plan for a telescope embraces the principle of reflecting mirrors with several radical changes from the old methods. A new medium is used, in the first place, for the mirror themselves, and then for focal adjustment, instead of the present method of moving the eye piece, the mirror itself is moved to obtain the proper adjustment. Dr. Alban has already built an instrument, twenty-five inches in diameter, which has been exhibited in New York and which has shown marvelous power. An instrument of four the most important bill of that Congress because it was better than the one this Congress made.

Mr. McMillin's resolution for an adjournment on Saturday was adopted by the House; and the filibustering against the fair item was continued with all sorts of dilatory motions.

THE GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

Senator Wolcott's Resolution to Investigate Was Adopted Today.

Senator Wolcott's resolution calling for an investigation into the geological survey has been amended and was adopted today. Senator Jones of Nevada reported it yesterday from the committee on contingent expenses, and it now reads: "That a select committee of five Senator, whose duty it shall be to investigate the senate, whose duty it shall be to investigate the senate, whose duty it shall be to investigate the senate, whose duty it shall be to investigate the most important the combined in New York and which has shown marvelous power. A Menace to Our Foreign Oil Trade. The Secretary of State is advised by the lega-ion at Tokio that a plan is said to have been adopted by a company controlling the export of kerosene from the Russian oil region of Batoum to ship the product in tank steamers to ports of India, China, Japan, Java and Australia, and to deliver the same in reservoirs, and that these steamers will pass through the Suez canal. This method of shipment, it is said, will effect a saving of S or 4 cents a gallon in transportation, and will menace our trade in oil with the cest.

It was agreed that there was a very good chance of republican success in parts of the south, especially in North Carolina and Tennessee, and assurances have been given republicant. ment resolution until the sundry civil bill is sent over to it.

A COMPROMISE TALKED OF.

The managers of the fair appropriation assert ganization and that the situation was satisfactory. His visit here was for the purpose of talking over the general situation with some of their friends.

Gen. Clarkson said that the situation in New York was improving in and that they were going to elect Harrison. "I have never taken much stock in the idea of carrying southern states," he said, "not because we have not votes enough in some of the states, but because we cannot get them counted. But at this time things look very favorable in North Carolina and Tennessee and our friends there think they can win."

Outhwaite and some of his followers are prepared to meet the world's fair people half way, to accept a compromise on the basis of the repayment of the money appropriated by Congress before any other liabilities are met. That is, he will personally favor a government loan, but not a government appropriation. The southern group in Mr. Outhwaite's fellowing, however, will abandon their present leader and seek a new captain general if a serious attempt be made to compromise on a loan basis. Mr. Outhwaite was asked for his opinion on the situation this afternoon. He said: If the Senate agrees to the resolution to adjourn, in all probability there will no fair appropriation, unless there is a provision incorporated in the item to the effect that the money shall be paid back, as the money was paid by the centennial exposition. I will vote now in favor of la government loan, and I want it understood that I have always been willing to vote for a government loan. There is quite a large group of democrats who will vote for a loan, and there is another group which does not believe that the government should loan money.

"Do you think the Senate will agree to adjourn before the sundry civil bill is out of the way?"

"I do not think there is any doubt that the Senate will amend the resolution so as to adjourn Congress not later than Monday." MR. BINGHAM CONFIDENT.

Mr. Bingham of Pennsylvania, who has led the fight for the appropriation, mid: "I do not believe the Senate will act on the adjournment resolution until the sundry civil is sent over to them. The only thing I look for just now is a continuance of the filibustering."

Representative Durborow and ex-Representative Lawler expressed themselves as confident that the appropriation would pull through. Mr. Lawler said that he thought the filibusters would weaken by Saturday and lose some of their followers.

The jeopardy in which the sundry civil bill was placed in his opinion would have an influence on some of the opponents of the fair, as there was money in the bill for many of their districts.

Representative Reilly of Pennsylvania is one Representative Reilly of Pennsylvania is one of the democratic members of the Columbian exposition committee who has worked in behalf of the fair appropriation, but is not so sanguine that it will go through. He said: "The feeling on the part of the opposition is very bitter and it is at least doubtful whether or not the appropriation can be finally passed in its present shape. The filibusters are greatly strengthened in holding out by the fact that a majority of the democratic members voted against the appropriation."

WHAT THE SENATE WILL DO. Senator Allison, chairman of the appropris tions committee, this afternoon said: "The tions committee, this afternoon said: "The Senate will adjourn when the sundry civil bill is passed," which means the hanging up of the House adjournment resolution.

The attendance of the House today was unusually large. I saac Hill, the democratic whip, says that there are 248 members in the city.

The fight might be forced to a finish if an attendance of this size could be maintained, as some of the filibusters are leaving the city, and pairing with members on the other side who are also leaving. The filibusters can afford less than the other side to lose members, but assert that their losses will not be sufficient to reduce their strength below the one-fifth necessary to order roll calls, and that the other side cannot hold a quorum here. A voting quorum with the filibusters numbering less than one-fifth of the number of voters would mean the end of the filibuster. end of the filibuster.

The meeting was rendered remarksable by the suggestion of arbitration resorted to and much interest will attach to what action the workers will take on the question. The association has always pooh-hosded suggestions of arbitrating its affairs on the principle that it was competent to manage them without outside intervention.

Lev. Mrs. Amanda Dey, a Universalist minister of Scranten, is in Pittsburg to represent the Universal Peace Union, to attempt the settlement of the Homestoad strike. She is aged forty years, and is a pleasant-faced woman. Her work here is jointly with Rev. J. L. Andrews, a Universalist minister of Alleghans. Yesterday the two called on Secretary Love-joy of the Carnegie Company, explained their mission and gave him a list of rules employed in the settlement of the difficulty between the Reading railroad and its employes, saying they would pertinently fit the trouble. The sules are called "the bill of rights." Mr. Lovejoy told Rev. Mrs. Daly they had nothing to arbitrate.

It is openly admitted today that whether a republican state ticket is nominated or not it will tend largely to the breaking up of the present alignment of parties.

"God speed the day," a very black and intelligent-looking preacher (who looked very much like John Price, president of the college at Salisbury, N. C.) remarked in the heart of Ture Stars correspondent this morning in front of Varboro House, where all the members of the state republican committees were just going into session to determine whether a state convention should be called, "God speed the day when my politics will not be known by the color of my face." The echoes of that sentiment, it is alleged, will resome throughout this state during this campaign.

This morning two strangers, with valises, got off the train at Homestead and inquired the way to the steel works. Some townmen fold them, but no one asked why they wanted to go to the plant.
